Blood Bank Nets 102 Pints 23 Short Of Needed Quota

$45 of $1500 Needed By Local Youth Center Netted In 3 Weeks

The annual Fund Raising Drive for the Bay St. Louis Youth Center has received three checks totaling $45 as the campaign reaches its third week.

Donations received to date are: Mr. & Mrs. J. J. McDonald $25 Dr. & Mrs. E. C. Samuel 10 Mr. & Mrs. T. T. Robin 10

"This is a beginning. It is hoped that next week there will be many contributions to list," said Mrs. Geo. Seuzeneau, publicity chairman. "Donations of $1.00 are most urgently requested from those who are not in a position to give larger amounts. It is the $1.00 donations, as well as the large ones, that are needed to bring in the required quota of $1,500," Mrs. Seuzeneau declared.

Checks may be mailed to Walter Gex Jr., chairman of the drive. The Youth Center is for the young people of the community, and all young people are eligible to enjoy the recreational facilities of the center, but it cannot operate without funds, it was pointed out.

The blood received yesterday at a drawing held by the Hancock County Blood Bank was the largest amount received to date. It was short of the quota needed to bring the depleted blood storage up to the desired level.

The urgently needed 125 pints of blood fell short by 23 pints, with only 102 pints being donated despite hard work by members of the Board of the Hancock County Blood Bank and the many organizations and volunteers who assisted in the drawing yesterday.

Between April, date of the last drawing, and yesterday the local blood bank supplied residents of this county with 138 pints of free blood. If a surplus had not existed from a previous drawing, the demand would have been greater than the supply, and lives possibly might have been lost through the lack of essential blood.

The bank was entirely depleted when yesterday's drawing got underway. "The 102 pints will certainly help when help is needed, and the donors cannot be too highly commended," members of the blood bank board said. "However, 102 pints will not take care of the demand should it be as great as it was in the last few months. Few people can afford the price of blood when purchased from hospitals, and next time it could be you that is in need. Bear this in mind, and at the next drawing staged by the blood bank if you are physically able, give. The life you save may be your own or that of a member of your family."

James J. Normand, Chairman of the local blood bank, said the following organizations that contributed so hard and who contributed greatly to the drawing in various ways:

The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, St. Margaret's Daughters, Altar Society of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, Knights of Columbus, the Masonic Lodge, the Holy Name Society, the Cancer Fund, King's Daughters Hospital, the Youth Center, Nelius Rhodes and Bobby Fayard for the public address system and transportation throughout the community, to the local newspapers for publicity at all times.

He expressed particular thanks to the girls who are members of Delta Sigma Chi sorority for the unlimited time they contributed at the drawing yesterday, and to the following business and religious orders who came en masse to donate blood: Employees of the L & N Railroad, St. Augustin's Seminary and Coast Electric; to local members of the medical profession and their assistants; Merchants Coffee Co., New Orleans; W. B. Reilly Coffee Co. of New Orleans; the St. Theatre; members of the clergy who aided by reminding their congregations of the drawing; and Miss Edna Isom, Technician of the local bank.

Also to the mobile unit of Foundation Hospital in New Orleans and its representatives, Miss Mary Wright, technician, and her assistants.

Christmas-on-High-Seas Program To Start Soon

"At this time of year any talk of Christmas seems pretty far fetched," says J. Cyril Glover, chairman of the Hancock County Red Cross Chapter. "And yet, planning is essential at this early date if we are to remember men and women in the Nation's armed forces who find themselves aboard ship next December 25."

Chairman Glover's remarks were made in connection with an announcement that the local chapter will participate in the traditional Christmas-on-the-High-Seas program again this year. This project, while sponsored by the Red Cross, is made possible by other organized groups over the Nation, which contribute gifts for distribution to troops and ships.

At the same time, he called on all civic, religious and social groups in the community to participate in the program.

"This traditional Red Cross service offers an excellent opportunity for these organizations to undertake a worthwhile project," Glover said. "Participation not only assures us of some lonely servicemen's gratitude, but also affords us the self-satisfaction of knowing we've helped others at this happy season."

Any local organization wishing to participate in the Christmas-on-the-High-Seas project should contact the Hancock County Red Cross Chapter at the Court House or Telephone 87 or 261.

A sensational fumble-pickup touchdown marked the turning point in the game as the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws upset, unbeaten Notre Dame Rebels from Biloxi here at the Rockchaws stadium Friday night.

Mitchell Dequir, Rockchaw back, broke the ice by picking up a rebel fumble in the third quarter and carrying it from the 30 yard stripe over the goal for the first score of the ball game.

The Rebels received the opening kickoff and ran it to about the 30 yard line. But when they tried to move they found the Rockchaw line impenetrable, and were forced to kick.

Kenny Artigues, Rock quarterback, received the punt on the 20, and on a sensational razzle-dazzle play with Billy Rhodes, and with the help of some beautiful blocking, succeeded in carrying the ball to the 45 yard line.

Though Stanislaus threatened 3 times topped off by a sensational 58 yard run by Rock halfback Rhodes in the 2nd quarter, they were not able to score against the Rebels in the first half of play. The score remained 0-0 at the end of the first half.

However, in the third quarter the action really began. The Rocks almost scored on a 45 yard run by Alfredo Vasquez, but it was called back on a holding penalty. But this didn't faze the Rockchaws. Mitchell Dequir picked up a Rebel fumble on the 30 yard line and ran it over for the only Stanislaus touchdown.

Kenny Artigues, veteran quarterback, kicked the all-important point after touchdown. And at the end of three quarters of play, the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws led the Notre Dame Rebels 7-0.

In the last quarter, Notre Dame's offense began to click. They started a long drive which was to end on a beautiful 30 yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Bobby Bourne to Henry End. They failed an attempt to run the extra point.

The Rebels kicked off to the Rocks, who then moved the ball up to the Rebel 20 yard line on a pass from Artigues to Rhodes. Just as the whistle blew ending the game.

Scores by Quarters:
 St. Stanislaus 0 0 7 0

Following the game, business of the day was discussed. Plans were made for the annual banquet to be held at the beach at Biloxi on November 11.

Day took the members of the Troop to the beach at Biloxi.

Sam Whitfield, a pioneer in a field that bids fair to becoming an industry in Hancock County, received an award from the Mississippi Tree Farm System, which is sponsored by the Mississippi Forestry Association.

The certificate of award reads:

To Sam Whitfield, Hancock County, whose trees are being adequately protected from fire and are being managed in a manner which will assure continued production of commercial timber in accordance with forestry practices approved by the Mississippi Forestry Association.

JOHN W. SQUIRES
President
FRANK B. PITTMAN
Secretary

Whitfield, a native of this county from Logtown, is following in his father's footsteps. W. A. Whitfield was a timber man, farmer and cattle grower in the county. His son, Sam, has carried on his work, but has progressed with the times and is one of the pioneers of the mechanical tree planters.

He planted his first stand of slash pine mechanically in 1948. Out of 3000 acres of land that he owns, he started with a 120-acre plot. He now has about 500 acres planted in this manner. The trees planted just seven years ago have reached good growth.

In addition to planting for himself, Whitfield also does custom planting for other tree growers.

Being a tree farmer requires a great deal of knowledge and experience. Basic requirements must be met by each landowner prior to his certification as a tree farmer:

1. The land must be privately owned.
2. Owner must protect his forest land from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing.
3. The owner must manage his forest land for continuing production of useful forest crops.
4. The owner must agree to periodic inspections of his forest.

luck and a winning team!

Miss Lynne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall, has been given the permanent wave at Mamie's Beauty Salon, which she won by registering along with Mamie's other customers. Mamie has just returned from a short visit and is at work again.

Miss Clara Lee Ketchum, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Ketchum, and a group of high school girls from Bay High School, motored to Jackson Saturday to compete in the 4-H talent contest which also featured talented groups from other schools in Mississippi.

The group from Bay High, known as "The Trifles" and composed of Sylvia Tamplin, Clara Lee Ketchum, Carol and Glenda Johnson and Carl Johnston, sang a lovely new melody written and composed by Sylvia Tamplin. The melody, entitled "You, Only You," has recently been copyrighted and Sylvia has high hopes for its success in the near future. The girls placed second and were awarded $25.

While in Jackson they attended the livestock show and had a most enjoyable trip.

land by representatives of the Tree Farm System. Practices necessary under items 2 and 3 must have been carried on.

Following final approval of the property as a tree farm, the executive Secretary of the Mississippi Forestry Association will develop appropriate occasions and ceremonies by which the tree farm certificates and the permanent tree farm signs, if ordered by the land owner, may be presented to the newly certified tree farmers.

Seven such signs have just recently been erected on land owned by Whitfield. They were placed by Marion Parker, area forester, and his assistants.

Whitfield said that he expects to plant approximately 400,000 seedlings this year for himself and others.

At the end of the planting season a fire fighting unit owned by him will be made available to assist any landowner in the aid of fighting wild woods fires. These units consist of truck, tractor, fire-pump and other fire fighting equipment.

Since February 1938, Whitfield has been the local pulpwood dealer for the International Paper Co. Prior to becoming a dealer, he was connected with the H. Weston Lumber Co. of Logtown, where he says he gained much knowledge and experience which has proved invaluable to him.

Whitfield is the father of two sons, one of whom it seems will carry on his father's work. His oldest son, Bill, a student at McCallie School in Chattanooga, Tenn., plans to enter college next fall to study forestry.

His younger son, Bob, is still in grammar school. The certificate of award was presented to Whitfield in Marion County at a Tree Farm Dedication held during September. The award was given by State Forester James Craig. An address also was made by Governor Hugh White.

The unloved pledges, who aren't allowed to set their hair, wear lipstick, jewelry, etc., really look PITIFUL! After MESSY INITIATION Saturday, they can resume their normal pace.

December 15 is a big day in the lives of many SJA girls. SSC Seniors are getting their rings.

Oilmen To Hear Five National Leaders

State Men, Heads of National Organizations, To Take Part In Vicksburg Oil and Gas Meet

JACKSON, Miss. (Special) — The Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association will conduct its eleventh annual membership meeting at Vicksburg on October 27 and 28, featuring on its program five of Mississippi's most outstanding sons.

Four of these men are heads of national organizations; one is the principal officer of an international group.

W. M. Vaughney, prominent independent oil producer of Jackson and a former president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Mississippi-Alabama Division, currently is serving his second year as president of the 13,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America.

A. Boyd Campbell, Jackson merchant and civic leader, is 1955 president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Jackson mayor Allen C. Thompson is president of the nation-wide American Municipal Association.

Tom Q. Ellis, serving his fifth successive term as clerk of the Mississippi Supreme Court, presently holds the highest office of that General Grand High Priest, of the Royal Arch Masons, an international group which is the world's largest fraternal organization under one head.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph B. Brunini, J.C.D., V.G., pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Jackson, is president of the Catholic Hospital

Association of America, a national organization of hospital administrators.

The Vicksburg meeting in which these outstanding Mississippians will participate will be the eleventh membership meeting of the local division of the industry-wide Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. Vicksburg attorney E. L. Brunini, current Mississippi-Alabama Division president, will preside over the business sessions of the meeting.

The Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association is spokesman for the oil and gas industry in this area and is composed of all elements of that industry. In Mississippi, oil and natural gas development has grown, in the short period of 16 years since the first oil discovery, to a position of economic importance to the state second only to the generations-old agriculture and timber industries.

The Mississippi-Alabama Division of this oil and gas industry association was organized in 1944 with headquarters in Jackson. E. D. Kenna, executive vice president, has administered the affairs of the Jackson office since 1945. Today, according to Kenna, oil and gas companies and independent oil men among the association's 477 members are credited with about 95 per cent of all the work done in developing Mississippi's oil and natural gas resources.

Besides President E. L. Brunini and executive vice president E. D. Kenna, the association's officers include First Vice President E. A. Vaughney, independent oil producer of Jackson, and seven area vice presidents: George C. Wallace, Jackson; John Callon, Natchez; Robert Lee Jones, Brookhaven; Dennis Granberry, Laurel; Frank Montague, Jr., Hattiesburg; J. Finley McRae, Mobile; and James L. Duffy, Grove Hill, Ala.

ASK VOLUNTEER AID AT VETS HOSPITAL

A request for additional volunteers to assist in the care and treatment program at the Gulfport Veterans Administration Hospital has been made by the Physical Medicine Rehabilitation Service, Nursing Service, Psychology Service, Social Service and Special Service. It was announced today by Dr. E. R. Bennett, acting manager of the hospital.

Dr. Bennett extended an invitation to all prospective adult volunteers to attend the Orientation and Indoctrination Course which will be presented by the professional staff on Wednesday afternoon and evening, Oct. 10. The afternoon session will be conducted between 1:30 and 5 p.m., and the evening session from 7:30 to 10:00. All sessions will be held in the Recreation Annex at the hospital.

The purpose of this specialized training is to qualify interested adults who have sufficient leisure time to render supplemental assistance to the professional staff in the program of patient rehabilitation. Volunteers render a distinct service by stimulating the neurophysiologic patients to participate in group therapy activities.

In the Physical Medicine Rehabilitation Service, more volunteers have been requested to assist in the preparation of craft materials, operation of threading Machine, the Department of Occupational Therapy.

In Educational Therapy, volunteers with a teaching background are needed to give individual instruction to patients in the elementary subjects.

Manual Arts Therapy section has a need for volunteers to assist the staff in motivating patients to participate in sheetmetal work, photography and woodworking.

The Corrective Therapy section has issued a request for male volunteers who have a physical education background to assist in this program.

Emphasis on writing letters for patients and mending clothes has been projected by the Nursing Service as rendering distinct service to the patients.

In Special Service, the Library Service has indicated a need for more volunteers to assist in the broadcast of special library program over the hospital radio system, assist the Librarian in making ward runs with the bookcart and making delivery of special book requests to patients on the wards. The Recreation Section has a definite need for more volunteers in all phases of the recreation program, including music, dancing, stage plays and social activities in the Recreation Hall and on the wards of the hospital.

The Psychology Service has a special need for volunteers with a dramatic background to participate in the specialized therapeutic program of psychodrama.

FORESTRY NOTES

By MARION PARKER Area Forester

The Black Turpentine Beetle

The black turpentine beetle has been killing large numbers of pines throughout the South, causing losses to both growers and turpentine farmers.

Presence of their large, black, reddish brown back beneath the bark, though it may be indicated by tubular masses of reddish pitch on fresh stumps and on the lower trunks of standing pines. Adult beetles deposit groups of eggs along tunnels in the inner bark. The larvae feed on the inner bark and often consume enough of it to girdle the tree. They attack all species of the southern pine.

The insect does not always confine itself to weakened trees, but kills apparently healthy ones as well. Decay follows the turpentine beetle and develops so rapidly that the killed trees must be salvaged very promptly.

Spraying with solution of benzene hexachloride in fuel oil will prevent attacks on stumps and trees. It will also kill broods beneath the bark, though it may not save heavily infected trees.

Spraysmen should avoid all unnecessary contact with the insecticides.

The beetle varies in length from 1/5 to 1/3 of an inch. They are hard shelled, almost cylindrical in shape, and reddish brown to black in color.

Beetle activity usually centers in areas where some disturbance has occurred and tree-killing commonly begins within one year of the disturbance.

The most obvious signs of attack are tubular masses of pitch on the lower trunk of the trees and on stumps the base of the tree or stump may be found coarse particles of dried resin that have fallen from the pitch tubes.

The needles first turn pale yellow green and then reddish-brown before they die.

Prevention by careful management is always better than cure by use of insecticides. Therefore, unnecessary disturbance in fine stands should be avoided. Stands disturbed by logging, turpentine, fire, hail, wind, lightning and other insects should be kept under observation for possible build up in beetle population.

To prevent attack of high-value trees in an outbreak area, the lower holes should be treated with benzene hexachloride. The height to be sprayed varies with the tree species and area.

Trees that are dead or dying as a result of beetle attack should be salvaged as promptly as possible.

News has been released that Mississippi has more tree farms than any other state.

If you would like to join the tree farm system notify your County Forester.

INDUSTRIAL AND FARM WATER USE HEAVY

One large industry in an eastern state, The Solvey Process Co., uses 101 million gallons of water a day. This is four times the amount used by the city of Jackson, Miss. in one day.

In testing an airplane engine 50,000 to 125,000 gallons of water are used. About 18 barrels of water are needed to refine a barrel of oil. Twenty-five gallons of condensing water is used for producing a gallon of aviation gasoline.

Within the last 15 to 20 years about 25,000 farm ponds have been built in Mississippi, and many lakes and reservoirs are scattered over our State. Water stored in this way is estimated to be about 20 billion gallons. Many more ponds and lakes will be built in Mississippi in the future.

Farmers who build these ponds are using them for other purposes — for irrigation, for growing fish, for fire protection, for sprays, and for livestock water.

A beef cow needs twenty gallons of water daily, and many depend on water in their ponds for livestock. Many farms do not have a stream or spring that flows the year round.

Without a good supply of water, it is difficult to get safe sewage disposal in rural areas.

Farmers for some time have been doing more than to king about the weather—they know that to depend on the weather alone is the worst form of gambling. They are holding back on the land a part of the rainfall by terracing, planting cover crops, and pastures. In doing this, droughts may come, but will not ruin crops and force premature sale of livestock because water will be insurance against droughts.

MISSISSIPPI RUNNER-UP IN COTTON GINNED

Mississippi ranks second in the number of bales of cotton ginned this year, the United States Bureau of the Census announced.

Of a total of 2,800,154 bales ginned in the United States so far this year Mississippi had ginned 359,413. The state ginned a total of 430,811 last year and 430,624 in 1953.

Texas led the states with 1,222,601 ginned so far this year.

IN-LAWS NO TROUBLE MARRIAGE COUNSELOR TELLS MSCW STUDENTS

This might quell many a cartoon or joke, but a marriage and family expert claims in-laws are no great problem in marriage.

When Mississippi State College for Women students asked Dr. Winston W. Ehrmann if in-laws were troublesome in marriage, he answered, "Certainly not!"

People in America like to believe they have in-law problems, but in my counseling I've found that in-laws are more likely to be a help than a hindrance. Rather than with the in-laws, the trouble lies more often in one partner feeling he, or she, is not properly appreciated.

Dr. Ehrmann, who spoke at a formal assembly program Tuesday, appeared at the student activity room for informal questions and answers that afternoon.

Other highlights of the discussions included husband-wife relationships and sex education.

Asked whether a mother should work, Dr. Ehrmann pointed out that while it would depend on the child and the situation, he felt the mother should stay at home until the child is of school age.

"Then, if satisfactory arrangements can be worked out, there should be no objection to her working, provided she can work and still give the child the sense of security he needs."

How do you convince a fiancé that you want to work, one of the MSCW girls asked.

"Don't marry him," advised Dr. Ehrmann.

"A common problem in marriage today is a wife trying to change her husband. It can't be done."

Dr. Ehrmann's chapel speech on the American family marked the first in a series of chapel programs at MSCW stressing effective family living.

Don't Let Dust And Dirt Rob You Of Light!

In the course of a few weeks enough dirt and dust can accumulate on your lamp bulbs and lighting fixtures to rob you of much of the light you are paying for. Even though the dust and dirt is not apparent, it can still cut down the efficiency of your lighting.

If you operate a store or shop the increased lighting you will get from cleaning bulbs and fixtures, and replacing dead bulbs, will help your customers and help your sales.

If you are a housewife the increased lighting will make your home safer, your work easier, and will save precious eyesight.

MISSISSIPPI LEGION

WINE NATIONAL AWARD

The American Legion of Mississippi has been advised by National Headquarters of the American Legion that the department has again won the coveted Ralph T. O'Neil Education Trophy. This gold plated trophy is awarded to the department with the largest participation in the School Awards program.

In the school program, the Legion tries to give reward for outstanding leadership among the high school students of the nation. This program is just one of the many beneficial programs of the Americanism group.

This is the sixth year in a row that Mississippi has won the national award. Because of this record, the Department has been asked to provide its program aids for the other departments across the nation.

Commander Guiley said in accepting the award, "It is with a great deal of pride that I accept this trophy for the thirty thousand Legionnaires of our state. It is because of their work that this program has been such a success. I am proud of our national leadership and know that the interest of the Legion in youth now will pave the way for a better Mississippi and nation."

TO CONSTRUCT POOL AT MAGNOLIA BOYS' TOWN

Members of Alex Post 3042 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars have voted to give $1000 in cash in addition to labor and building material for the construction of a swimming pool for Magnolia Boys' Town, located on Boguehou Lake, it was announced by Reece Owens, Commander.

The resolution of endorsement and pledge to construct a swimming pool, 30 by 60 feet, reads in part:

"We, the members of the VFW know best and first hand the price of freedom we enjoy under the constitution and our flag. We feel any boy regardless of his religious preference or his social background is entitled to an equal fair chance at life and the opportunity to become a mature, useful happy American citizen. "We feel moral endorsement alone cannot and is not enough to guarantee our underprivileged, unwanted and otherwise needy boys in Mississippi a place where they may be assured of a home, of being wanted and loved, and religion, education, the feeling wholesome Christian recreation.

"We believe, without any doubt, Magnolia Boys' Town is in every way a laudable and worthy undertaking, having heard a detail progress report by Director Henry Buckalew, bringing the project up to date."

YOUTH CENTER IS HUB OF LOCAL TEENAGE LIFE AND YEAR-ROUND ACTIVITY

By CHRISTOPHER BELL

Reprinted courtesy the Times-Picayune

Times are starting up in the Gulf Coast with the Bay St. Louis Youth Center in its sixth season, this year, which is more like a well-attended club, continues to be a rendezvous for the coast. In fact, it is so popular that the directors and board members had to go into a huddle to find ways and means for enlarging the dance floor, remodeling the kitchen and adding an entirely new television room.

Of course, there is a little money of funds for these plans, and the center's annual drive got off to a very poor start, but there is hope that the drive will soon start rolling.

The club also sports a new 100-watt juke box, tres loud; two ping pong and two pool tables plus a slue of checker, card, and variegated board games. Here every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, a half-dozen games are going, the juke box is blaring, ping-pong popping and the whole place is hopping. Then comes Friday and Saturday nights, when the lid is off for real fun, practically for free.

The big deal each Friday night is a cake cutting. The director, Mrs. J. Cyril Glover, who with her husband has done so much for the club, unveils, or at least, uncovers a cake, baked for members who celebrated a birthday during the week. Other refreshments, liquid and nonalcoholic, go along with the birthday cakes, and when everyone is sufficiently filled he or she returns to the dance floor, fortified for another "rock and roll."

Altogether, it's a pretty nice place, well run, exceptionally clean and the pride of Bay St. Louis. A half-dozen committees keep busy thinking of new parties to throw, and, of course, each year there is the big harvest ball. A number of formal gowns give a good reason for new dresses, if the girls need such excuses; but for real informal fun the dances after the Bay High Tigers and St. Stanislaus Rockchaws home football games probably take the laurels.

The center has gained such a good reputation as a nice place for entertainment that even adults in the Bay are using it for various civic parties.

All in all, teenagers and adults both can rack up the youth center as one of Bay St. Louis' happier ideas.

The girls, who were selected by the five girls' groups, were such spirited leaders that all five were unanimously elected. They are Virginia Freeman, Renee Kari and Gloria Ann Meyer from the eighth grade and Beverly Miller and Barbara Tartaville, 8th graders.

The one boy candidate, Emmett Normand, 7th grade, was also unanimously selected as an official Junior cheerleader for Bay High.

The first appearance of the Junior Cheerleaders will be Tuesday night, October 18, when the Junior, Peewee and Midget teams of Bay High will play Picayune at St. Stanislaus Stadium.

New Cafeteria Open to Students

Students returning to Bay this year found new and improved facilities for eating and enjoying their lunch.

The new cafeteria, occupying the space formerly used as a first and second grade room, has new steam tables and glass partitions which have openings at the bottom through which food is served. These partitions are clean and as students handle the food.

About 325 students are in the cafeteria each day and approximately 1,525 a week. The new lunch room has seven tables and 100 chairs which are sufficient to accommodate students comfortably. Grammar and high school students are seated at different shifts to avoid crowding.

Ladies who work in the cafeteria are Mrs. Elizabeth Boudier, Mrs. Zelma Tudy, Raymond Bourgeois and Walter Carver.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD CORN YIELD SET

A new world's record of 304.38 bushels of corn per acre has been made this year by Lamar Ratliff, 16 year old Prentiss County 4-H Club member.

Lamar's variety was Funk's G-711. The rows were 30 inches apart with stalks eight inches apart in the drill.

He fertilized the acre with 1,000 pounds of 14-14-14 mixed fertilizer and 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate under the crop, and 300 pounds of ammonium nitrate as side dressing.

Lamar plowed the corn twice and no irrigation was practiced. Lamar says Funk's G-711 is the best corn he ever planted.

We also know that many of them organization throughout the year are as follows:

President, Ruth Bennett; Secretary, Vice-President, Sylvia Tamplin, junior; Secretary and Treasurer, Claudia Murphy, senior; Reporter, Phyllis Allison, senior; Librarian, Rita Norel, senior; Assistant Librarian, Thelma LaFontaine, junior.

Use Moot Lumps Safely

Infrared heat lamps, now in wide use throughout Mississippi for brooding of baby pigs, turkeys and chickens, are sometimes a source of danger to the stock.

While the 250-watt R40 bulb, most commonly used, comes in deep red, hard glass, or clear, regular glass, most farmers buy the cheaper one—regular glass.

This bulb breaks more easily. Here are some rules to follow to reduce danger of breakage of these lamps, and reduce danger of injury to livestock.

1. Hang lights from a light chain of wire so that they cannot fall.

2. Protect bulbs with deep reflectors so that they cannot come in contact with water or other substance that might cause breakage.

3. Suspend the lamps at a height where livestock being brooded cannot reach them.

Use porcelain sockets or lamp holders instead of brass ones. Use rubber covered cord to connect brooder lamps, and make sure that excess cord is taped up out of reach of livestock.

No more than six 250-watt bulbs should be connected on a 15 amp. circuit. By all means, follow the manufacturer's instructions in operation of the lamps and connecting them.

just one night. Besides killing the baby chicks and older birds, too, rats will eat and waste more feed than the chickens will.

Rat-proof your poultry houses. Aid your farm of rats. Get your neighbors to cooperate with you in ridding entire communities of these disease-transmitting, feed-wasting, poultry killing varmints.

See your county agent for information on rat eradication and newest chemicals to use in your rat program.

Soil Testing For faster service and certainty of having results of soil tests on hand by planting time next spring, samples should be taken and sent to the State Soils Testing Laboratory at Mississippi State College during the fall and early winter.

Samples should be taken for spring planted crops during the latter part of October through January.

FORESTRY

Most acres of farm woodland will produce four times as much income if helped a little than they will if just let alone.

It is just as worthwhile to remove worthless trees that are shading out desirable varieties as it is to plant seedlings. Generally this can be done in about one-fourth the time it takes to plant seedlings.

Cull trees—those that are of such poor quality that they cannot be sold, get bigger but no better. If they were culls the last time you made a sale, they are still culls.

It will be money ahead to kill them and give better trees a chance to grow. All you need is a sharp axe, a little time and some chemical free your forest agent and get a copy of Extension Publication 201, "Woodland Management."

Rats and baby chicks just don't mix. One rat has been known to kill as many as 200 chicks in a farmyard.

SHAME "I'm sorry, madam," said the attendant at the movie, "but you can't take the dog into the theatre."

"How absurd," protested the woman. "What harm can pictures do to a little dog like this?"

PRIVATE WAR OF MAJOR
BENSON IS YEAR'S MOST
SPARKLING COMEDY

In its light-hearted Technicolor comedy "The Private War of Major Benson," Universal-International has mixed together a wonderful blend of new faces, familiar faces in new characterizations, plus a fresh, bright story, and has come up with what is certainly the most sparkling comedy of the year.

The film, which plays at the Astor Theatre Oct. 23-24, stars Charlton Heston and Julie Adams and introduces little Tim Hovey, who will undoubtedly go on to become Hollywood's first big child star in years as a result of his role in this picture.

Heston plays the role of Major Barney Benson, a tough Army career officer who dislikes what he considers the Army's kid-glove treatment of rookies, and says so in a national magazine. The Army "banishes" the Major with an assignment as an OTC instructor at a religious military school for young boys.

Heston in a change of pace from his usual heavy dramatic roles, shows his great versatility in the role of the tough Major, lending to the part good strong dramatic talent as well as some wonderful comedy.

Julie Adams, as the resident physician at the school is warmer and more appealing than ever before, and this film should be marked down as the best she's done to date.

COFFEE PARTY

A delightful event of Tuesday was the coffee party given at the home of Mrs. Norman Renshaw on North Second St., with Mrs. C. L. Blair and Mrs. Horace Kergosien joint hostesses.

The reception rooms were charming with arrangements of fall fruits and flowers in abundance. The buffet in the dining room claimed particular attention with a sweeping display of fruit and wheat sheaves. The centerpiece on the table was formed of pine cones set in pine needles in a spreading arrangement.

Intimate friends of the three hostesses alternated in serving coffee and tea to the many guests. This was one of the larger parties ushering in the fall season.
